

FAMILY

We've enjoyed a very busy start to the fall. After record-breaking temperatures in August and September, we are finally enjoying "seventy something" high temperatures, and it's beginning to feel like fall! Alyssa is doing great in second grade, and thoroughly enjoys reading now. Sabrina has loved doing preschool at home with Jennifer, and is having fun learning her letters and hearing lots of great stories. Olivia is getting so big (2 ½) and continues to be lots of fun (although she is definitely showing signs typical to her age.) Jennifer has 11 piano students, and is starting to do some accompanying at a local middle school. We (especially Brian) have spent a lot of extra hours at church since our church has been finishing up a building program. Brian has spent many Saturdays running telephone and data wiring in the new portion of the building. Most of that should be completed within the next month or so.

GEEK SPEAK (Brian's column)

These last three months have been exciting, challenging, and very rewarding in the IT area at CAM. We were extremely excited to receive our completed DVD – "What will you do with your ONE and ONLY life?" – on Friday, October 14th. This DVD, which includes the challenging stories of three missionaries, has been in the works for over a year, and took Brian to Honduras and Mexico this spring to assist in the filming process. We are currently working out the distribution plan for these DVDs that will challenge people to search for eternal significance with their ONE and ONLY life. Our plan in the coming months is to have the three stories available on our website.

God also saw fit to challenge me with some personnel issues at CAM. My part-time techie is no longer with us at CAM and this has caused an extra workload for me as I search for a replacement. By the time you read this letter, I will have interviewed and selected a new employee to help with supporting CAM's Office as well as CAM's missionaries with their technical needs. Please pray for this person and myself as I train and prepare them to take care of the daily needs at CAM.

Harrison Using IP Phone

Even without a helper, the ministry has been very rewarding. CAM has been and will continue to participate in the hurricane relief efforts in New Orleans and in Guatemala. It was especially rewarding to set up a mobile office with a laptop, printer, Internet, and IP phones for CAM missionaries Harrison and Dorothy Smith. As they came through Dallas, I was able to teach them how to setup the equipment and use it once they arrived. After 3 weeks of struggling with the local phone company, we were able to secure a reliable Internet connection in mid-October. The IP phones have been and will be a vital part of Harrison's communication as he orchestrates the relief work teams, rebuilding work teams, evangelism teams, and continues to communicate with the leadership in Dallas as well as our Emergency Coordinator in Guatemala.
